

David Liggitt, President, datacenterHawk

David is the founder and president of datacenterHawk. He has been active in the data center industry since 2007. Before becoming an entrepreneur, David managed data center transactions for Fortune 500 companies with a global commercial real estate company. He is passionate about helping industry professionals make well-informed decisions.

David earned his bachelor's degree from Baylor University and currently lives in Dallas with his wife and two boys.